2. Sebastian Gorka was born in Britain, but grew up in Hungary.

3. Gorka doesn't only have ties to Nazi groups, and the alt-right, also pro-iranian figures.

"When he appeared on U.S. television ... with the medal of the Vitez Order ... it made me really proud," Vitezi Rend spokesman Andras Horvath said in the Hungarian capital of Budapest. Vitezi Rend is also known as the Order of Vitez.

Three people, including one of Gorka's former political allies, said he was a well-known member of Vitezi Rend back in Hungary, a charge he strongly denies.

“Gorka is... a snake-oil salesman whose supposed Ph.D dissertation would have never passed muster in America or Britain,” writes Andrew Reynolds, a University of North Carolina political scientist. “To put the cherry on the cake was approved by an fraudulent panel of examiners.”

Gorka, who grew up in Britain and moved to his father’s homeland of Hungary, was awarded his PhD in 2007 by a place called Corvinus University in Budapest, a little-known institution that Reynolds says has no international profile.

Reynolds says Gorka’s dissertation is more like an extended Islamophobic rant with precious little academic research to back it up.

He provided approval letters from three referees, but two of them don’t possess doctorates themselves, which is highly unusual.

The third stamp of approval came from a family friend who is also a parliamentary leader of a far-right Hungarian party who recently called for pig’s heads to be impaled on border fences to keep out Muslim refugees.

5. Also part of the discussion should be his ties to White Nationalists and Hungarian Nazis.

Mr. Gorka, or as he was known at that time, Gorka Sebestyén, held a press conference in 2006 with his political allies in front of the Corvin movie theatre in Budapest. He appeared with two prominent members of the Hungarian far-right, Tamás Molnár, the ex-vice-chairman of the Jobbik party and László Grespik. In an earlier article we covered Mr. Molnár (read here) now we deal with Mr. Grespik who died in December 2016.

6. The lawyer in the picture (above far right) usually represents Skinheads and racist criminals

7. One famous quote by this same lawyer is “you cannot get justice in Hungary from a judge “who has Jewish blood”.

Mr. Grespik served as a defense lawyer of the Hungarian skinheads. In one noted case in 1999 his clients had attended a Day of Honor heavy-metal concert where the band played songs with lyrics describing Jews as the “scum of the earth, stinking dirty hoard, parasites living off our country! They got what they wanted, and are holding Hungary in their hands (...) They are the ones who are allowed to do anything, fight them, protect yourself!” And: “Run, run, stinking Jew, sooner or later you’ll turn into soap anyway.”

When the young neo-Nazis were charged with public drunkenness and disorderly conduct, Mr. Grespik requested that the judge disclose “whether she regarded herself Jewish or had Jewish ancestry.” As a defense lawyer Grespik maintained that you cannot get justice in Hungary from a judge “who has Jewish blood.”

8. Gorka is a close friend of Steven Bannon, and when Gorka is attacked, Breitbart always provides cover.

In a recently published article David Reaboi defends Sebastian Gorka. He writes that it is unfair to connect Mr. Gorka to the Hungarian far-right because the accusations are nothing more than “guilt-by-association”. He also claims that Mr. Gorka “fought and tried to undermine the anti-Semitism of the far-right” in Hungary. Several other Breitbart pieces depict Mr. Gorka as a victim of a well-orchestrated, unfair and unfounded media attack. (Read Mr. Reaboi’s article here.)

9. He is also involved in anti-semitism, anti-islam and works against black political expression.

Gorka noted that the Oklahoma City bombing was 22 years ago, which is true. But since 9/11, right-wing extremists — almost always white men and frequently white supremacists — have been far more deadly domestically than Muslim extremists. At the moment, it's not clear what possessed Gorka to pack a handgun in his carry-on. Did he suppose that his PhD and blustery opinions would somehow serve as a special license to break the law? Does he secretly fantasize about being a hero during an airplane hijacking? Was he trying to demonstrate how ineffective he thinks the TSA is so that he could concern-troll them on a future Fox News interview? Or is he just stupid?

Ex-Trump Aide Sebastian Gorka Was Subject of Arrest Warrant at White House

Hungarian police have an outstanding arrest warrant for Sebastian Gorka, issued in September 2016 for unspecified weapons or ammunitions charges. By Associated Press

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Hungarian police had an arrest warrant open for Sebastian Gorka during the eight months he spent as a national security aide to U.S. President Donald Trump.

The warrant issued in September 2016 is for unspecified weapons or ammunitions charges. It remained posted Thursday on the website of Hungary's national police.

The British-born Gorka has Hungarian heritage and lived in Hungary for years starting in the early 1990s. He worked for Hungary's defense ministry during 1993-1998 and tried to establish a radical right-wing party in Hungary, the New Democratic Coalition, in 2007.

That he was wanted by Hungarian law enforcement while working for the White House appears to have escaped public notice before it was first reported Thursday by Hungary's 444.hu website, based on a reader's tip.

Reacting to reports saying the warrant might have stemmed from charges possibly filed in 2009, Gorka tweeted: "I moved to America in 2008. (LEGALLY!)."

Hungarian police have not released any details about why the warrant was obtained and has languished so long.

Gorka joined the Trump administration as a counterterrorism adviser. But his exact responsibilities were not clearly outlined, and he was unable to get clearance for the National Security Council because of a January 2016 charge for carrying a weapon at Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport.

Gorka entered an Alford plea to the charge later that year, acknowledging that prosecutors could likely prove their case but admitting no wrongdoing. A Virginia court ordered him to forfeit the weapon and "be on general good behavior" for six months.

Gorka left his White House position in August, a week after the exit of chief strategist Steve Bannon. Bannon was an ally of Gorka's, who was an editor at Breitbart News from early 2014, known for his hard-line views on immigration and terrorism. Gorka told The Associated Press he resigned, though a White House official said that was not the case. Since November, Gorka been a national security strategist for Fox News.
